

Boost Agent Productivity With Integrated Call Controls Within Salesforce.com

Zultys Salesforce.com Communicator Provides Integrated Call Handling and CRM Integration

The Zultys Salesforce.com Communicator provides close integration between the Zultys IP PBX and the Salesforce.com CRM application suite. With the Zultys Salesforce.com Communicator you can have full call control from within a Salesforce.com contact record, including click-to-dial from the CRM record, Hold, Transfer, call notes and call log. This application also provides Salesforce.com screen pops for inbound calls with known account information displayed. With the Salesforce.com Communicator, agents can communicate quickly and effectively directly from Salesforce.com and conveniently capture call information to boost response times and the quality of customer service a company provides.

Delivering Unified Customer Communications

The Zultys Salesforce.com Communicator integrates directly with the Zultys Unified Communications system through a call control panel that appears in the sidebar of every Salesforce.com page. This calling feature is activated within the Salesforce.com application to unify voice and data functions for an agent within a collaborative communications environment.

Agents can click on icons to dial and answer calls from the desktop, put callers on hold, and transfer calls. Agents can write notes during live phone calls, attach comments to a call log or associate a record with a call by navigating to the record and then selecting it. If a call is transferred, the contact record and any new call notes will appear as a screen pop on the screen of the receiving party, facilitating real-time collaboration for speedier customer service, improved prospect targeting and call resolution.

Users can also customize their screen page layout by adding, removing or changing the order of the fields or the records displayed to match their work flow. The call control tool also provides convenient "My Calls Today" and "Last Call" displays that let users quickly and conveniently review their activities.
